

Privacy Policy

This privacy policy only applies to the practices of the website of Rob Boram Construction, Inc. robboramconstruction.com. This policy will provide information regarding:

1. What personal information is collected from this website, and how it will be used or shared.
2. What options are available to you in how we use your information.
3. What security procedures are in place that safeguards your information.
4. How you can correct any inaccuracies in your information.

Information Collection, Use, and Sharing

If you choose to provide us with personal information – like filling out a Contact Us form with e-mail and/or postal addresses – we only use that information to respond to your message or request and we are the sole owners of this information that has been collected on this website.

We never create individual profiles or give it to any private organizations. Also, we never use or share the personally identifiable information provided to us online in ways unrelated to the ones described above without also providing you an opportunity to opt-out or other wise prohibit such unrelated uses.

Security

Any information that you have given us will be kept secure. Only employees that need your information to perform a specific task will have access to it. The computers and servers that we store this information are kept in a secure environment.
